I booked for Nemmadi for PDI of my new Villament based on the recommendations of other co owners in the same property. They sent a team of 4 for the inspection, they were on time and equipped to do all the required checks - Civil, plumbing and Electrical points. I took a basic plan and the inspection took about 4hours for 3BHK.. They took three days to give me a detailed report with all those points which are ok and not Ok to be shared with the builder. It was real Nemmadi(peace) for us to see them go through every detail of the property - Cracked tiles, hollow tiles, improper filling of gaps, damages - big and small, and many more. I would like to thank Dileep, Chitralingappa and team for detailed inspection and explaining us what needs to be done with the Builder to get things corrected.

We had a very good experience with Nemmadi's apartment inspection today. Personally, this was first house and we had no clue about house inspection. Special thanks to Dilip and Anil, both were highly professional. They explained the whole process and patiently carried their detailed work, and also, provided detailed explanation on few issues while inspecting the house and provided tips on rectification. Inspection covered for tiles, skirting issue, windows, dampness, plumbing, Water-logging , snagging and electrical point, etc. We are highly satisfied with their work and it was great decision to go with Nemmadi for third-party inspection, highly recommend it.

I had a very good experience with Team Nammadi House Inspection. The inspection was carried out thoroughly and professionally, with attention to detail across all areas of the property. The report was clear, well-structured, and easy to understand, which helped me identify issues and take further action confidently.

A special mention to Dileep, who conducted the inspection. He was knowledgeable, patient, and explained all observations clearly during the inspection. His approach was transparent and reassuring, and he took the time to answer all questions without rushing.

Overall, I am very satisfied with the service and would highly recommend Nammadi Team House Inspection and Dileep to anyone looking for a reliable and detailed home inspection.

I recently availed Nemmadi – Home Inspection & Property Inspection Service for inspecting my new house, and I couldn't be happier with the experience. From start to finish, the team was punctual, professional, and extremely thorough in their approach.

A special mention to Manjunath and Gowtham, who carried out the inspection with exceptional attention to detail. They checked every corner of the house meticulously — from structural elements and electrical points to plumbing, tiling, and overall finishing. Their explanations were clear, their observations were precise, and they made sure I understood every finding before moving forward.

What impressed me the most was their commitment to quality. They didn't rush through any part of the process and ensured that even the smallest issues were identified and documented. Their detailed report will be incredibly helpful for getting all corrections done before handover.

I highly recommend Nemmadi to anyone looking for a reliable and comprehensive home inspection service. Their professionalism, expertise, and dedication truly stand out.
